

866.972.2731
SALES@VISUALEDGESB.COM
www.VisualEdgeSB.com

Four children in every classroom see print this way! They can't control their eye movement at close distances, making reading and attention almost impossible. As the print moves and blurs, they stumble over words, lose their place, and can't comprehend the text they are trying to read. Out of desperation, giving up and quitting is a frequent outcome. With reading and vision problems, school can be a struggle to children, and for parents who may not recognize these symptoms.

There once was a little girl who could not read very well. She complained that the print was blurry and moving. She could not keep her place on the page. She went to her optometrist to get help. Her optometrist recommended vision therapy and told the girl that there was a solution to her vision problems. The girl began vision therapy and saw dramatic improvements in her reading, writing, and most of all how she saw the world. The vision therapy made a huge difference in her life!

There once was a little girl who could not read very well. She complained that the print was blurry and moving. She could not keep her place on the page. She went to her optometrist to get help. Her optometrist recommended vision therapy and told the girl that there was a solution to her vision problems. The girl began vision therapy and saw dramatic improvements in her reading, writing, and most of all how she saw the world. The vision therapy made a huge difference in her life!

There once was a little girl who could not read very well. She complained that the print was blurry and moving. She could not keep her place on the page. She went to her optometrist to get help. Her optometrist recommended vision therapy and told the girl that there was a solution to her vision problems. The girl began vision therapy and saw dramatic improvements in her reading, writing, and most of all how she saw the world. The vision therapy made a huge difference in her life!

There once was a little girl who could not read very well. She complained that the print was blurry and moving. She could not keep her place on the page. She went to her optometrist to get help. Her optometrist recommended vision therapy and told the girl that there was a solution to her vision problems. The girl began vision therapy and saw dramatic improvements in her reading, writing, and most of all how she saw the world. The vision therapy made a huge difference in her life!